Creating Safe and Supportive Schools:

The Boston Public Schools Comprehensive Behavioral Health Model

With Andria Amador

Creating Safe and Supportive Schools leads to improved academic outcomes and reductions in negative behaviors. School psychologists can serve as change agents who have the skills and training to develop a behavioral health framework, implement interventions, track data and provide professional development.

This presentation will outline how BPS created a Comprehensive Behavioral Health Model, the impact of the Model, and how school psychologists can support the behavioral and mental health needs of all students.

NHASP Strategic Planning With Peg Dawson

Strategic Planning has been a core component of NHASP for decades. Our current plan has guided the organization for 5 years and is ready to be revised.

Having a strategic plan that serves the needs of our members is what makes NHASP strong. Participants in this working session will evaluate our current plan, identify areas for improvement and replacement, and develop an action plan to help NHASP achieve our goals.
